HR-Not once in Larry Keen's interview with Dean Griswold in your paper's alumni edition is there any mention of the quality of legal services rendered people or a concern for it or ~~the~~ improvement in it. Where there is a reference to services rendered those who can't pay a lawyer he is not for it! Even plea bargaining gives the lawyer not the accused a "break." It is impossible to imagine a better choice to "investigate" the CIA.
So the record of lawyers in Watergate is notall that bad? Almost all were lawyers and there is no crime in history involving as many of criminal so high a percentage of whom were lawyers, i.e., officers of the court. Lawyers are responsible for the greatest of subversions and it is to his legal eminence not all that bad!
I also was surprised to learn that Bailey and Rothblatt had collaborated in all those books. Saw them in Bud' law library. Supposed to be solid work. Tahnks, HW 2/21
